These unconditional Union men may be Union men in sincerity for ought we know. Buckeye Reaper & Mower If the hatred of rebels made Union men, we oncede the justice of their claim. Each one Which has preven itself, in five years' trial of these men is sufficiently eager to put down the rebellion, to give his uncles to the army and all his wife's relations. They are for a vigorous prosecution of the war; but prefer paying $300 to risking their lives in the We have only their uniformly expressed hate of rebels, and their loud professions of a desire for Union, to prove them to be Union men. Perhaps this is sufficient. King George was eager to keep the Colonies. We judge so from his measures, however ill directed. We presume that these unconditionals must be set down as generally desirous of a Union of the States; but their actions in most respects would not confirm the opinion. They propose only one way to get through this trouble, and that is by relentless war. They offer no elive branch, but degrading conditions that they know will never be accepted. They have, by their laws and imperial decrees, under the name of military orders, placed these rebels outside of the pale of civilization. They can submit to be hanged, imprisoned and stript of their property. King George was not harder on the Colonial rebels. They have united the rebels, augmented their armies and inspired the soldiers with desper ate resolution. They have divided the people of the loyal States so as to discourage volunteering and create sympathy for an enemy that did not previously exist. They knew when they adopted their measures that such would be the effect. We say they knew it, and they do not deny that they knew it. If they should deny it, the world would not believe

This being the case, do these men desire a estoration of the Union? They will not more than get credit for sincerity on this point. They risk the whole on the hezards of war; and suppose they fail; for Mr. Lincoln told the truth when he said you can't fight always. They have shut themselves out from any other expedient. A failure to conquer and subjugate is a failure altogether.

Look at the task to conquer and hold by military force a people scattered over half a tow was requested to pray.

Judge Goodloe suggested two from the State at large as electors, and two as delegates; a committee on resolutions was suggested, tile to the last degree. We see what power MESSRS, PITKIN, WIARD & Co., Louisville, Ky., Gentle of registance they exercise now. We cannot estimate its amount and the length of its endurance. History tells us how a heroic pecple, few in numbers, with far less resources, have baffled the largest forces. The power to aggress and the power to resist differ widely; one may give out for want of stimulus: he other holds out with death-like tenacity. But this dominant party places all on this uncertain issue.

The truth is, they want a Union only on their terms, which suits their party ambition. They will have Union on no other terms. This is their unconditional Unionism. They will listen to no terms but their own, ask for no other, and these terms they can only force by the sword and maintain by the sword. Hence they will have war and nothing else, for nothing else will reach their end.

Our fathers sought a Union by practicable means. They agreed to conditions that all would acquiesce in. This party don't seek Union by such means. The consent of the governed they held necessary to permanent and just government. This party do not try to win consent, but to force obedience entirely by the sword. If they get credit for any desire for a Union of these States, they would only say they did not use the obvious means to the end. They did all they could to divide so altered as to prohibit slavery in any part of the United States. and alienate instead of uniting, thinking, to force a Union to be held together by the Spe sword, with laws to be executed by standing armies. Either they do not want any possible Union, or they do not know how to get it.

An English statesman, before this war, professed great admiration for American institutions and the manner in which the laws were made and administered. We certainly deserved, in the highest degree, this commendation; but he added, America has shown An English statesman, before this war. how she can preserve the arts and keep alive the great principles of liberty common to the English race, in a time of peace. It remains to be seen what success she will have in maintaining them in a time of war. His interlocutor confidently pointed to our Constitution. Its theoretic perfection the other admitted, but denied the right to assume that it would certainly be adhered to in practice in a time of war. It is this experiment that we are now engaged in trying. To restore a territorial Union is of grave importance; but we ought to remember the preservation of inalienable rights is no less so. As we were a free people before the acquisition of Louisiana territory and the country west of the Rocky Monntains, we still might be the same atter their loss, if we have not while losing them sacrificed the liberty as well as the land of the nation.

I will tell them to go on and fix it as they indeed—the voluntary consecut of sovereign states, on just and equal terms; and as expressed by Gen. Jackson—by "the affections of the people." To these ends it is necessary to protect negro slavery, or exterminate it. One thing is bound to be done. If I was a pro-slavery man I would say put it back; if en entirely every man I would say put it back; it is not every man I would say put it back; it is not every man I would say put it back; it is not every man I would say put it back; it is not every man I would say put it back; it is not every man I would say put it back; it is not ev rights is no less so. we have not while losing them sacrificed the liberty as well as the land of the nation.

A very dangerous feature in the conduct of the war has been a grave departure from principles set down in the Constitution as inviolable, upon the pretext that the violations are indispensable to the preservation of the Union. This is similar to the converse proposition of the rebels, that they broke up the Union to preserve the principles laid down in the Constitution. The one declaration has come from

He was pleased to find that it was only occasioned by the assembling of the Black Republican switch of the late train that left us last March. At the time of our entrance our old friend Col. Mass Meeting of the Democracy in Louisville.

Long from the House.

In response to a very brief notice, the De mocracy of Louisville met at the Courthouse on Tuesday evening, May 24, in overwhelming numbers-the largest primary meeting which has been held in the city for years-and organized by appointing Dr. Norvin Green chairman and Oliver H. Strattan secretary.

The call for the State Convention was then read by Dr. J. R. Buchanan, with a few brief comments, and received with applause.

A committee was appointed to report resolutions, consisting of Dr. J. R. Buchanan, E. S. Craig, S. M. Bernard, W. A. Hauser, T. J. Conn, T. J. Frazier, Wm. Mix and Dr. H. F. Kalfus. The committee reported the following resolutions, which were received with applause and adopted by a large vote.

After the reading of the resolutions the meeting called loudly for E. S. Craig and Geo. Baber. In response to the enthusiastic calls they addressed the meeting in earnest and eloquent style, with much applause.

15th of June, and the business being concluded, the meeting adjourned. It was certainly one of the most numerous, orderly and harmonicus meetings we have ever attended. RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, 1, That the Democratic party, in the present crisis of calamity and despotism, needing no new light to find the path of safety and honor, has but to brush away the storm-clouds which have for the moment obscured its principles, and to walk in the sunlight which they have always shed upon our country. These principles, which are to illuminate our pathway and dispel the dark night of tyranny, are found in that greatest work of our fathers, the Constitution of the United States and the deliberations of the patriots who formed it. They are found in the long-honor ed and annually-reaffirmed Virginia and Ken-tucky resolutions of 1798 and 1799, ia which the wisdom of Jefferson and Madison illustrated the nature of American government and ican liberty.

2. That we pledge our allegiance, with no After being done with the rebels down South we intend to come home and settle with the copperheads and the friends of the copperheads at home, for I never knew a man who sympathized with them who was not a copperhead. We will make them submit, and if they don't knock under we will make them knock under.

Include States, as understood by its tior of the United States, as understood by its tior of the United States, as understood by its tarrick authors—by Washington, Madison, Franklin, Rundolph, Pinckney, Lee and Sherman—and we declare again the solemn truth, as expressed by Madison and Hamilton, who spoke the unanimous sentiment of the convention that framed our Government, that the military coercion (or subjugation) of States by ton to say and proclaim, and to cry it aloud that we would live to see the people free from North to South, and independence shall strike her colors—shall unfold her colors and drive Federal Government, because such a measure is an act of governmental suicide and destruc-tion of the Union. The folly of attempting to maintain a voluntary Republican Union by force of arms, which was unanimously forbid-den by the fathers when they formed the Con-stitution, which was condemned emphatically by Adams, Jackson and Douglas, and justified by no American statesman, was, even up to the verge of the present war, condemned by the very leaders of the present Jacobin party

A DESPERATE VENTURE .- On the Express A DESPERATE VENTURE.—On the Express train coming down from Cleveland, last Saturday, were several substitutes for drafted men, who, having received their money, were being sent to Tod Barracks, Columbus, preparatory to being placed in service. When between Iberia and Mt. In the World of last Wednesday morning was published a proclamation, purporting to be signed by your Excellency and countersigned by the Secretary of State, appointing a day of fasting and prayer, and calling into military service by volunteering and draft four hundred thousand citizens between the ages of eighteen and forty-five. That proclamation was a forgery, written by a person who, ever since your departure from Springfield for Washington, in 1861, has enjoyed private as well as public opportunities for learning to counterfeit the peculiarities of your speech and style, and whose service for years as a city editor of the New York Times and upon the New York Tribune acquainted him with the entire newspaper machinery of the city, and enabled him to insert his clever forgery into the regular channels by which we receive news, at a time when competent in spection of its genuineness was impossible, and suspicion of its authenticity was improbable. But the insult to your Excellency was the greater in proportion to the eminence of your station. Early in the afternoon of Wednesday, therefore, I went with Mr. Wm. C. Prime, the chief editor of the Journal of Commerce, which had been deceived precisely as we were, Galena. Mr. Grant stated that his brother had promised him, in case there was a good prospect of his entering Richmond, that he would notify him, so that he might be present. The dispateh, written in fulfillment of this promise, told him to come; and accordingly he, in company with another gentleman from Galena, was about to visit the scenes of the great was about to visit the scenes of the great sould lead to the discovery of the guilty persons. To characterize these proceedings as unprecedented, would be to lorget the past history of your administration; and to characterize them as shocking to every mind, would be to disregard that principle of human nature from which it arises that men submitting once and again to lawless encroachments of power, with which it arises that men submitting once and again to lawless encroachments of power, with every intermission of a vigilance which should be continual, lose something of the old, free, keen sense of their true nature and real dan-

But, sir, the suppression of two daily journals in this metropolis—one the organ of its great commercial public, the other a recognized exponent of the Democratic principles which are shared by half or nearly half your fellow-citizens—did shock the public mind, and the public mind, and the public citizens. did amaze every honest and patriotic citizen, did fill with indignation and alarm every pure and loyal breast. There were no indignation meetings, there were no riots, there was no official protest. But do not imagine, sir, that the Governor of this State has forgotten to do his duty; do not imagine that the people of this city, or State, or country, have ceased to love their liberties, or do not know how to protect their rights. It would be fatal to a tyrant to commit that error here and now. A free people can at need devise means to teach their chief magistrate the same lesson.

From the New York World, May 23.]

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, ABRAHAM
LINCOLN,

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Sir: "That the King can do no wrong" is the theory of a monarchy. It is the theory of a constitutional republic that its chief magistrate may do wrong. In the former the ministry are responsible for the King's acts. In the latter the President is responsible for the acts of his ministers. Our Constitution admits that the President may err in providing for a judgment upon his doings, by the people, in regular elections. In providing for his impeachment, it admits that he may be guilty of crimes.

In a government of laws, and not of men, the most obscure citizen may, without indecorum, address himself to the Chief Magistrate, when to the Constitution whence you derive your temporary power and he the guaranty of his perpetual rights, he has con-and for your supporters?

Can you, whose eyes discern equality under every complexion, be blinded by the hue of partisanship?

The World had sustained the government in its struggle to preserve our imperiled nationality. It had helped inspire the martial spirit of the people, and encourage them to the sacrifices they have so nobly made. It had advocated those measures of financial policy which could best preserve the tone and vigor of the Government in the courtet. vigor of the Government in the contest. It had deserved well of the republic, and of those who love it. But it also exposed and denounced the cor-ruptions attendant upon your Administration. It had opposed a delusive and enervating system of paper money. It had vindicated the fame of a patriot General, whom you had removed from command on the eve of victory. It had deprecated your re-election. Did you not find in these facts the provocations to your wrong, and your persistence in wrong. not find in these facts the provocations to your wrong, and your persistence in wrong? Had you not made up your mind against us before the underling, your partisan, had concocted his plot? When you answer these interrogatories, I will produce the proof of threats made against us by those nearest you, and assuming to evert your preparative here. threats made against us by those nearest you, and assuming to exert your prerogative, be-fore this trick of forgery furnished you with the specious pretense of an accusation.

Can it be possible, sir, that for a moment you supposed that journals like ours could afford to be guilty of this forgery? Let the unanimous voice of your own press answer. Such a trick would hardly have succeeded in Sangamon county, Illinois. For a party which is about to go before the people, and ask them to commit to its hands the administration of affairs, which has been more generous and forbearing to your errors than you have been just to its guides, permit me to say that it was less possible to be true of any one of them than it was of any man high or low who suspected them.

And so the end has proved. The confessed and guilty forgers were your own zealous partisans. Joseph Howard, jr., who has confessed his crime, was a Republican politician and Loyal Leaguer, of Brooklyn. Consider, sir, at whose feet he was taught his political education, and in whose cause he spent his political breath. Mr. Howard has been from his very childhood an intimate friend of the Republican plearyman.

political breath. Mr. Howard has been from his very childhood an intimate friend of the Republican clergyman, Henry Ward Beecher, and a member of his church. He has listened year in and year cut to the droppings of the Plymouth sanctuary. The stump speeches which there follow prayer and precede the benediction he for years reported in the journal which is your devoted organ in this city. For years he was the city editor of that low. For years he was the city editor of that Jour-nal, the New York Times; for a long time he was the Washington correspondent of the chief Abolition newspaper of the country, the ome to tell his tale.

For any injury done to ourselves, to the covernment, or to the public, this publicity which stigmatize constitutional opposition to which stigmatize constitutional opposition to the administration as disloyalty to the govern-ment. The stock-brokers who were his con-federates will be found to be of the same kidney. They all advocated a paper-money legal tender; they have all countenanced the paper inflation; they have all been heedless of the misery to poor men which such inflations breed; they have all rejoiced at the speculation thus fostered, and by speculation they had hoped to thrive.

For twenty-four hours something was pardoned to your presumed natural trepidation, since our blumelessness having been alleged to you by those here whom it was your duty to believe, it seemed only prudent to await

For the next twenty-four hours, from moment to moment, it was expected that you would hasten to confess and repair your mistake. But the mistake thus prolonged grew to the proportions of a crime; and till the dis-covery of the forger stripped its mask off, and disclosed the inspiring cause of the act, it graw monstrous hourly in men's eyes.

We were patient that the immeasurable infamy of the act might swell to its full proportions, and stand complete.

By the recall of your arbitrary order, you have not made reparation for the wrong you have done. The injury and the insult yet remain. The violation of the Constitution stands recorded, and unless adequately atoned becomes a fatal precedent. For the purpose of gratifying an ignoble partisan resentment you have struck down the rights of the press, you have violated personal liberty, subjected you have violated personal liberty, subjected property to unjust scizure, ostentatiously placed force above law, setting a dangerous example to those who love force more than they respect law; and thus, and by attempting to crush the organs of free discussion, have made free elections impossible, and broken down all the safeguards of representative government. It is you that in this transaction stand acsused before the people. It is you who are conspicuouly guilty. It is upon you that history, when recording these events, will affix tory, when recording these events, will amx the crime of a disregard of your duty, oblivion of your oath, and a pitiable subserviency to party prejudice and to personal ambition, when the country demanded in the Presidential office elevated character, devotion to duty, and entire self-abnegation.

But you are not to be left to the judgment of history alone. Thank God by the provisof history alone. Thank God, by the provis-ions of our Constitution, not yet wholly abro-gated, the people are soon to pass upon your claims to re-election, and the right of impeachment yet remains to their representa-tives. The people and their representatives have the right to speak when the pen is struck from the hands of a freeman by the bayonet; when the Bastile, once broken down on the other side of the Atlantic by the reveberation of our revolution, is reconstructed here.

In stormy times like these, amid dangers with which an unsuppressed rebellion environs us, his would have been a rash hand which had hastily set in motion for another and redresses of the law. The danger of such a conflict of laws is so far passed that not even a President could now plead national safety as an excuse for refusing to do justice or submit to judgment.

Yet no citizen who regards his duties Yet no citizen who regards his duties should ever hesitate at the last to oppose lawless deeds with legal remedies. The law may break down. It will then disclose to a watchful people the point of greatest danger. Courts may fail; Judges may be intimidated by threats or bribed by the allurements of power, and those who have sworn to execute the laws may shrink from the fulfillment of their oaths. A craven Congress may sit silent and idly watch the perishing liberties of the people whom they represent, but this cannot deter him who in defending his rights is determined to do his

In the preliminary proceedings, Mr. Secretary Hodges said he had been requested to state that the conservative meeting presided over by Gen. Lee has retired to the south side of the South Auns. [Great applause.]

NEW PROVOST MARSHAL -Yesterday Capt Jewett, of the Third Kentneky Cavalry was relieved as Provost Marshal at this place by order of Gen. Burbridge, commanding the district, and Lieut-Col. Vaughar, of the Seventeenth Kentucky, was appointed in his place. Capt. Jewett, since he was appointed, has filled the office faithfully and with credit to himself and the public. He leaves for the front this morning to rejoin his regiment. Col. Robert Vaughan, who succeeds Captain Jewett as Provost Marshal, is one of the most gallant officers in the field, and will fill the office to the perfect satisfaction of all of our citizens. Col. Vaughan has participated in all the principal battles of the war, and has been seriously wounded at Chickamauga.

THE CONVENTION OF "THE UNION DEMOCRACY."

The convention assembled in the eastern room of the Courthouse at 11 o'clock. Hon. James Guthrie called the convention to order, when he proceeded to make a brief speech, in which he alluded to the condition of parties in Kentucky and stated the reasons which controlled the State Central Committee of the Conservative Union Democratic party to call the present conventior. He said that after the call for this convention had been presented by the committee, a communication had been received from the Kentucky Representatives in Congress, urging the postponement of the convention till the 15th of June next, with a view to making the call bread enough to include all who opposed the party now in power; but, he said, the committee felt that they had no authority to consult those who had left the platform of 1863, and therefore concluded to call this convention, leavfore concluded to call this convention, leaving its propriety to be determined by the patriotic sentiment of the people. He believed it right, and the people would approve it. He urged all men of conservative views to unite together in opposition to the party in power to rescue the Government from their hands.

Mr. Guthrie then suggested that a temporary Chairman and Secretary be chosen, when it was moved unanimously by the audience that Mr. Guthrie act as timporary Chairman.

Mr. Wallace, of the Journal, was appointed by the Chair as temporary Secretary,

On motion, the delegations from each Congressional District chose a representation, respectively, on the Committee of Organization, and reported as follows to the Chair:

STATE AT LARGE. Hon, Jas. F. Robinson. Hon, Jos. R. Underwood.

DISTRICTS. -S. P. Cope. 2—George Poindexter. 3—William Sampson. -Richard Brown. -Hamilton Pope. 6-F. L. Cleaveland. 7-Wm. B. Kincaid. 8-C. T. Brown, 9-Wm. S. Botts.

The Committee on Permanent Organization having retired for consultation, returned and made the following report:

Hon. James Guthrie, President.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

2d District—Capt. T. J. Puryear, of Graves.
2d District—David R. Murry, of Breckinridge.

Mr. Guthrie, upon accepting the position of President, said that he trusted that the delegates would proceed in the work before them with a proper sense of the responsibilities in-cumbent upon them, co-operating with him in preserving order throughout. Before entering regularly upon the proceedings of the convention, he suggested the propriety of some one opening the convention with praver. The Rev. Mr. Howard, chaplain of Col. Wolford's regiment, was called upon to pray, when he advanced upon the platform and delivered quite an appropriate prayer.

by a different motive from them. They had wrecked their political fortune and lost their social character—lost all. They went into rebellion to better their condition. They had reasoned thus: We have already lost our moral character; we have stained our manhood; we have nothing now to lose. If the Confederacy fail, we cannot suffer much; it it succeed the reveal their resolution, then the along of victory will the revolution, then the glory of victory will impart some light and fame to us. Thousands had reasoned thus and acted accordingly, having no higher motive than this.

Another class were born poor; they aspired to nothing worthy or great; they were the "levellers," and thought they could enrich themselves perhaps by the spoliation of Union men. They were prompted by sordid lust, and so joined the rebellion.

There was another class, and that a higher who pledged themselves to stand by the action of their State despite their views of secession or rebellion. They were, thousands of them, Union men at heart, yet prompted by a a proud attachment to home and kindred. There was something of heroic sentiment in that which could but be admired. Another class there was in the South, of true, unfaltering Union men, who determined to bear all of odium and persecution rather than surrender their allegiance to the eld Government. They were men of highest courage, whose hearts were very temples of truth and fidelity.

Such were the people we were called to fight—sil Americane, born of that blood which knew no fear of baitle. Some there were who classed them all as scoundrels, but they know them not. They were our kindred in all that makes us a mighty and glorous nation.

Why did we enter upon war against them? And what did we expect from the conflict? We sought to vindicate and re-establish the rightful jurlsdiction of that Government whose integrity we were sworn to preserve. We wished to maintain in all their power and beauty the institutions of freedom which washington established. We meant no war of sult jugation, we were prompted by no base lust for power. It was simply the Union, the Constitution and the laws for which we drew our swords in battle. The wer having been begun by the disunioniste, we made an army upon the purest principle on which an army equiliped in the lustrous panoply of law and justice and particism, and men of all parties flocked into its ranks. There was no apray issee at take. The negro question was not before us. If there was a man who joined the army—I mean that flats great army—from any different motive, I never heard of him. He different motive, I never heard of him. He army—I mean that first great army—from any different motive, I never heard of him. Such decirine is called treason now; but it tresson now, was it not treason then? The cry now is, there can be no compromise with treason. Nor would he, (Col. W.) compromise with treason, yet he would ofter such utility and make him a better man.

When our army first marched forward, it was accusated by the highest impulses that ever stirred the souls of men. Our soldiers looked to God, the people looked to God, all trusting in the justice of our cause. That army was crowned with victory. It began with the little fight at Wild Cat, off yonder in Eastern Kentucky; then at Mill Springs where Zollicoffer fell, vaicily endeavoring to raily his statered columns. Victory succeeded victory, and the Southern people, no less than our soldiers, McClellan and Busil, (Great applause) promised a speedy termination of the war and the research the rebel masses, of the policy of our armies under those grand leaders, McClellan and Busil, (Great applause) promised a speedy termination of the var and the research of the United States, loyal to the Constitution, are by right a green and make him and Busil, Great applause) promised a speedy termination of the war and the research of the United States, loyal to the Constitution, are by right a free people, and they should remain free. and towns. Dol. W. here severely criticised the usurpations that were practiced in the State under the bogus provisional rebel Government, during its occupation of Southern Kentucky. He had thought such usurpations were exclusively "Southern rights," not American rights. But, to the shame of the country, our own Government had practiced them all. The first argument ever used in the Fedall. The first argument ever used in the Federal Congress for confiscation, subjugation and robbery, was that the rebels had denothese things. How contentible such logic in the Democratic Convention, to be held the 15th councils of an enlightened nation!

Col. Wolford illustrated the present policy of the war by reference to affairs in Tennessee. Andrew Johnson, he said, was once a man—he is now a thing. I once thought him a Union man—a patriot who had suffered per Convention at Louisville, June 15, 1864. ecution. He came to Kentucky when he could not go to his home in Tennessee. We met him with open arms. I met him at Camp Dick Robinson where I commanded a regiment. He was subsequently made "Military Governor" of Tennessee—a new kind of offi-cer, one that I had never heard of before, and one unknown to the laws of the country. We hoped and believed that he would win back to their allegiance the prople of his misguided State; for we sent him to conciliate them. But power too much en-larged him, and Andy felt that Tennessee was too small for him and the secessionists. He could be gain attention, he would talk in his plain way of the condition of the country and the mighty struggle in which the government is engaged. We were engaged, he said, in the greatest war ever fought upon the earth—a war originating in circumstances more singular, and fraught with consequences more singular, and fraught with consequences more important, than any other known in historic annals. In such a struggle it was highly important to know unequivocally whom were fighting, and for what. No questions, indeed, were more important than these. We are fighting our bretherer. Two portions of our once peaceful and happy nation are in deadly hostility. The breeze of each day is burdened with the news of fresh battles and fresh blood deacerating American soil. The struggle has cffice with Abraham. He is empowered to conficate property—he levies big contributions off his old secession neighbors, and there is no telling how much of the whole enters his private purse. If Brownlow goes on for two years more at his present rate he will own all Tennessee. These names the Union." my 25-d2 bravely.

How strange! that the intimate, cordial relations which had bound the North and the South tegether—the apparently indistructible ligaments of the American Union—should now be severed by the interposition of such a strange thiel. It is said that we are fighting.

The will own all Tennesce. These names I mention as illustrations only, for I never like to speak of individuals. There was a Colonel in the Federal army, in the purer days of that army—Colonel Turchin. He closed his eyes at the beautiful town of Athens, Alabama, and gave his regiment license to each the place. The set has stemped him with informations.

been replaced, and in a higher command. He is worthy of the service now, under the new doctrine of military necessity. The proclamation of the President freeing the slaves was a military ne cessity, but it has strengthened the rebellion and weakened proportionably the Union cause. The soldiers South has been blasted by such a policy. The rebellion has been cemented. The rebels fight now with a new and higher spirit of heroism than ever before, for they feel that there is no safety under Federal power. Celonel

W. severely criticized the President's recent letter to Mr. Hodges, of Frankfort. The doc-trine of that letter was that of the despot. The Administration had ruthlessly trampled upon every provision of the constitution, it had violated every principle of civil liberty, We were once the freest people on the Globe. It is not so now. The guarantees of free speech, free press and personal liberty are violently overthrown. Where are they? Col. Wolford closed his remarks by elo-Col. Wolford closed his remarks by cloquently appealing to the conservative men to rally as a unit to overthrow the party in power. We must and shall have a free ballot. Some talk of milliary interference at the pells in the approaching Presidential election. Should it be attempted, he would defy it by military resistance (leud applause). There were other points briefly discussed by the speaker, which we have not room to elaborate. The speech was received throughout with marked approval.

Inquiry was made as to whether or not the committee on resolutions was ready to report, whereupon Hop. John B. Huston, chairman of

4. That the only object of the war ought to be to subjugate the armed insurrection which, for the time being, suspends the proper relations of certain States with the Federal Government, and to re-establish the supremacy of the Constitution; and the loyal citizens of those States, and the masses of the people thereof, submitting to the authority of the constitution, ought not to be hindered from restoring the proper relations of their respective States with the Federal Government, so far as the same is dependent on the voluntary act of the people, by any condition except unconditional submission to the Constitution and laws of the United States. In the language heretofore solemnly adopted by Congress, the war ought not to be waged on our part for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, or purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease.

Skirmishing with guerrillas occurs daily—always in our favor.

WAR DEPARTMENT,) Waskington, May 25-9, P. M. Gen. Dix: The latest from Grant's headquarters received at this department, is dated at Mt Carmel Church, of 1 o'clock yesterday afternoor. The dispatch says everything is good. Warrevs has 600 prisoners, Hancock some 300 and Wright has picked up some 200. The whole number resulting from yesterday's operations will not fall show: erations will not fall short of 1,000. Warren's loss is not 300 in killed and wounded. The prisoners, who are in a great part North Carolinians, are much discouraged, and say that Lee has deceived them. The pursuit is delayed by the great fatigue of the men, still Haucock and Warren will reach South Anna by nightfall.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. May 20. The Republican Convention met to day. The following was adopted by acclamation, the Convention rising and cheering heartily: Resolved, That this Convention, approving the administration of Abraham Lincoln, and recognizing his irregrity and pariotic efforts to suppress the rebellion, which he found in existence upon his inauguration, hereby in existence upon his inauguration hereby ex-press its preference for his re-nomination for the office of President of the United States.

NASHVILIE, May 25. A letter from Fredericksburg yesterday says a number of ambulances under aflag of truce have gone to Chancellorsville Courthouse to gather in such of our wounded as were left in the wilderness. Guerrillas in that district continue their depredations.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25. A special from Washington to the Bulletin, says the Republican has issued an extra announcing the retreat of Lee over the South Anna, supposed to the defences of Ricamond, and that Grant is rapidly pursuing him. Also that Jeff. Davis has fled from Ridmond.

Gen. Banks' Army at Semmesport. Later News from Grant's Army Hancock's Corps South of Bowling-

Richmond in Greater Danger than

OFFICIAL.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, May 24, 10 P. M.

To Major General Dix:
A dispatch from Grant, dated 11 o'clock last night, states that the army moved from its position to the North Anna, following Lee's army closely. The Fifth and Sixth corps marched closely. The Fifth and Sixth corps marched by way of Harris' store to Jericho's ford, and the Fifth cerps succeeded in effecting a crossing and getting position without much opposition. Shortly after, however, they were violently attacked, but handsomely repulsed the assault without much loss to us. We captured some prisoners, Everything looks exceedingly favorable.

Another dispatch, giving a detail of the movements of our corps, and speaking of the rebel assault on Warren's position, says he was attacked with great vehemence. I have ver heard more rapid firing cither of artillar musketry. The attack resulted in a lery on repulse to the enemy, destructive attacked by Hancock the rebels had intrenched, ek. They had crossed able force at Bottom cr. acious resistance the river and made a perturn and made and made a perturn and mad the river and made a pertance resistance to his onset; but before dark he had forced them from their works and driven the m across the stream.

It is also said that in these engagements the slaughter of the enemy was great. Our losses were inconsiderable. The rebels charged against our artillery and suffered especially from canister.

A dispatch from Grant, dated three o'clock

A dispatch from Grant, dated three o'clock this morning, has also been received. It states that the enemy has fallen back from the North Anna and we are in pursuit.

Negroes who have come in say Lee is falling back on Richmond. Other official dispatches from headquarters say Warren, Burnside and Hancock are pushing forward after the retreating army. Warren captured a good number of prisoners last night, but has not had time to count them or ascertain his own loss. Hancock is storming the rifle-pits this side of the river. Last evening he also took vetween one hundred and two hundred prisoners, and drove many of the rebels into the river, where they were drowned. Warren also captured some official papers, among which was an official order calling out boys of fifteen years of age to garrison Richmond, and ambulance men and musicians were also ordered to ance men and musicians were also ordered to Sheridan arrived this morning at Dunkirk, and will be at Milford to-night. No dispatches have been received to day from Sherman, and none are expected for sev-Dispatches from General Butler have been received to day, relating briefly to his respective forces.

Admiral Lee, in a telegram dated the 22d, Admiral Lee, in a telegram dated the 230, to the Secretary of the Navy, states that last night and Saturday night the enemy attacked our army, but were handsomely repulsed.

A dispatch from Canby, dated the 18th, mouth of Red river, states that Gen. Banks' troops had arrived at Semmesport yesterday and will reach Morganza to-day. The army is in a better condition than was expected, and will soon be ready to resume offensive

E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War. The Herald's correspondent says Hancock moved his corps at midnight on the 20th, fol-lowing the road opened by the cavalry, and marched to Bowlinggreen unobstructed, crossing the Mattapony at Millord. After proceeding a mile direct south, Hancock halted his column, and formed a line of battle in a commanding position on the crest of a range of hills, where he is confident he can stand against any force Lee will deem it prudent to Another correspondent says of the fight at Milford Station that French attacked the rebels, while the cavalry flanked their position, when they beat a hasty retreat, leaving, it is believed, six officers and sixty men, besides a quantity of wearing apparel, &c, sent up from Richmond the day previous. NEW YORK, May 25.

The Herald's Nineteenth corps correspond-ent says that, simultaneously with the attack on our left, the Nineteenth division of cavalry was attacked on our extreme right wing, com-posed of Ferreor's colored troops. The at-tack was met with great steadiness, and a heavy voiley from the colored troops brought the rebels to a halt. They formed again, how-ever, and advanced more steadily, when again they were met with unflinching bravery. Find-ing they could make no impression they left. the field, and the next morning not a rebel was seen on our front. Here, as on our left, the rebel strategy, so often specessful with the rebel strategy, so often successful with this army, of cutting of our supplies, failed, and they abandoned the attempt with disgust. Headquarters Army Potomac, Gunner's Station, May 22.

The advance of the army under Hancock arrived at Milford yesterday, and met a force of the enemy, said to be 13,000 strong, and drove them through the town, pursuing them seeme distance. Our loss is nuknown.

An attack was made on our Headquarters train near Guinea Station yesterday afternoon.

The 114th Pennsylvania reserve, with the 68th The 114th Pennsylvania reserve, with the 68th Pennsylvania volunteers, formed in line and drove the rebels, consisting of the 9th Kenucky cavalry, across the bridge. One man of the 68th Pennsylvania was killed and two or three wounded. A number of prisoners were taken.

NEW YORK, May 24. nded details of Sherman's operations in Extended details of Sherman's operations in the Tribune show that after severe fighting on the morning of the 16th the rebels were found to be in full retreat and their supplies and ammunition trains burning, but the artillery was carried off. We have 4,000 prisoners, and hundreds more are coming in. Hooker has crossed the river near Resaca, and Schoffeld crossed near Pelton. Stoneman, with cavalry, was pursuing Johnston and engaging them with artillery that morning.

NEW YORK, May 25. The steamer Glasgow, from Liverpool 12th, The trial of Jno. W. W. Andrew, leader of the July riots, concluded last evening. He was convicted and sentexced to Sing Sing for three years. He made two speeches, in which he said that instead of inciting the rioters he did all he could to deter them; but admitted he sympathized with them, opposing the draft, and claimed he had a perfect right to express his opinion.

THE STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE. THE UNDERSIGNED, HAYING AN EXPERIENCE of fitteen years in the facture of Cod Liver Oil, has recently, at a large cost, greatly improved the process of procuring it, and now offers to the public a preparation that for undeviating purity, uriform freshness, and superiority of preparation is unmatched. These results are maintained by the personal supervision of the proprietor, whose efforts have at once made this Oil the standard of excellence. Physicians and others looking to the attainment of the greatest medicinal efficacy in the shortest time, and thereby obviating in digestion and nau-ea in the patient, can secure their purpose by the administration of my Oil.
